CHARGE BAD FAITH BY UNITED STATES IN YAP CLAIMS

BOLDLY DEFIANT Note to United States Precipitated Hughes' Action—We Had No Treaty.

Washington.—To maintain its position with regard to the Pacific Island of Yap, the American government would have to prove not merely that it had a right to the island, but also that it had a right to the island. The Japanese government, in a note under date of April 12, made known to the United States department, that it had decided to take possession of the island of Yap, and that it had decided to take possession of the island of Yap.

It was to this note that Secretary Hughes replied April 13, at the same time republishing a note to the Japanese government, which was published in the United States department. The Japanese government, in a note under date of April 14, made known to the United States department, that it had decided to take possession of the island of Yap, and that it had decided to take possession of the island of Yap.

Japan's firm to holding on to the island of Yap, and that it had decided to take possession of the island of Yap. The Japanese government, in a note under date of April 14, made known to the United States department, that it had decided to take possession of the island of Yap, and that it had decided to take possession of the island of Yap.

Absolute exclusion of Japs is proposed for the future of all Japanese immigration with permission allowed for any temporary residence for the purpose of study, commerce, or other legitimate business. The Japanese government, in a note under date of April 14, made known to the United States department, that it had decided to take possession of the island of Yap, and that it had decided to take possession of the island of Yap.

GARY IN FAVOR OF U. S. CONTROL AS LABOR SOLUTION

CHAIRMAN OF U. S. STEEL CORPORATION ADDRESS STOCKHOLDERS. PROPOSES LAW Nonpartisan, Nonsectarian Departments Suggest to Give Decisions.

New York.—Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation, told the stockholders at their annual meeting Monday, that he was in favor of U. S. control of the steel industry. Gary proposed a law that would give the U. S. government the right to control the steel industry.

Continuing his suggestion, he said: "Laws—clear, well defined, practical and easy of comprehension—covering the steel industry might be passed, and if so they should apply to all economic organizations, groups of bodies exceeding certain specified numbers or amounts. The law should be subject to the same principles, and be subject to the same restrictions and provisions."

Mr. Gary said the natural and certain effects of labor unionism are expressed by three words: Inefficiency, high costs. "I would not let union labor leader, 'Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America,' as continued, 'to the city of the special mission from Venezuela were guests of Mayor Hylan and the board of aldermen Monday.'"

On possible reduction of working hours for employees of the steel corporation, Mr. Gary said: "The officers of this corporation, the president, the board of directors, and the board of trustees, are all in favor of a reduction of working hours for employees of the steel corporation."

CAME NORTH ON PASS SENT BY JUDAH BENJAMIN

The speech to be given by Attorney Burton Hanson, Chicago, on the life of Judah P. Benjamin before the Rock county bar association Monday night, is of special interest to County Clerk Howard W. Lee. He probably is the only man in Rock county who knew the former Confederate secretary of state.

It was by a passport and order of Benjamin that the county clerk, then a boy of 14 years, was able to come north with his father in the year of 1862.

Harvey W. Lee, the father of Howard W. Lee, lived in Montgomery, Ala., the home of Judah P. Benjamin, was practicing law in the family. Benjamin was practicing law in the Alabama city before the Civil war broke out and was a member of the United States senate.

"I can remember his coming to my father's home and to my father's store," said the county clerk. "When the war broke out my father was in sister sympathy with the North. Consequently he had to leave the southern states. Judah P. Benjamin gave my father a pass for all our family and for Mrs. Benjamin, Floyd, and her son. She afterward ran the Hyatt house in Janesville for many years. There was no disputing that pass, for my father was very friendly with the former Confederate secretary, although they differed on the views about the war."

The trip north was made in two covered wagons, a team of horses to each wagon. The start was made from Montgomery in the spring of 1862. In the Lee family were the father, mother, a sister and three sons. They traveled into the Cumberland district and struck the Confederate support lines. General Vandorn consigned the passport to go through the lines. The travelers had to make a circle from Franklin because Van Dorn was engaging in a battle at the city. They crossed the Duck river and went around on another route and were successful in getting into Union territory because of the pass from Secretary Benjamin.

The family reached Louisville, New York, in the fall of '62 and then came to Janesville to buy property west of the city.

Holt Urges All Citizens To Attend Exhibit as Civic Duty

Facts and figures concerning the schools of Janesville, the system and the results being accomplished are especially appropriate at this time with the school exposition being staged Monday and Tuesday and Supr. P. O. Holt of the schools has made the following statement:

"It is interesting to contemplate the appreciation which the city may have of the size and significance of its educational system. The raw material with which it deals is the most valuable raw material which the city possesses—3,000 school children. For the education of these children, the city has provided ten school buildings valued at approximately one half million dollars. Working in these schools is a staff of about 100 teachers. For the maintenance of the schools for the year 1921-22, the city will raise by direct tax levy about $20,000. A bond issue of $50,000 has been successfully completed for the erection of a new high school building which will be ready for occupancy September, 1922.

Should Arouse Interest
"The investment of the city in its educational system should most naturally lead to a very large and decided interest relative to the return upon the investment.

"Are the people of Janesville as interested as they should be? Do they attempt to acquaint themselves with what use is being made of the tremendous investment involved and the definite effect which the schools are having upon the developing of the boys and girls who attend them?"

"It is generally realized that community interest in schools and school affairs is positive rather than active; less likely to be constructive than destructive; not certain to be intelligent.

"The Janesville teachers are attempting to inaugurate a movement which will make it possible for all the residents of the city to know more concretely something of the work being done and to visualize by objective evidence, the actual work being done in the classroom. The exposition will present the work of every kindergarten of every grade of high school and in fact of every public school child of the city. This should mean that every every family having a child in school should be in attendance as evidence of the fact that there is real interest in the environment which is being created for the development of the pupil who is the object of special interest.

Appeal to All
"A special appeal is made to the residents of Janesville who have no immediate relatives among the school children to attend. The schools are yours. Your community pride is appealed to. Your presence at the exposition is a boost for Janesville, an indication of your desire to promote the general welfare. Janesville spirit may be properly judged by the interest shown in attendance on either Monday or Tuesday. Parents and relatives will attend—the real record will be made by the public spirited people who have no immediate relatives in the schools but who have a broad civic spirit of helpfulness.

VACATION PERIOD FOR FIREMEN BEGINS
Firemen's vacation plans made several days ago are to be carried out despite the weather. A substitute has been added for the long vacation period and Fireman William Drafiak has started on his 14-day leave. The 20 members of the department will probably draw lots to fix vacation periods.

CHISHOLM CLUB ARRIVES FOR TWO WEEKS TRAINING

Traveling through snow and wind, the Chisholm club of the Minnesota league arrived in Janesville Monday to begin here for two weeks before opening the season in their home town. Darby O'Brien, the manager, formerly was with Duluth in the Northern league, Cleveland, St. Louis and the Rockford Three I league club.

O'Brien's crew will work out here each day with the Tractors. Mud and snow still on the grounds will delay them for perhaps a couple of days. When the hot sun bakes the earth, they will play daily practice games with the Tractors.

Next Saturday and Sunday they will appear at Beloit against the Pirates. On April 20 and May 1 they play the Tractors in regular week-end games here.

The team consists of:

Chisholm—Leaver, formerly with the St. Louis Browns; Donaldson, Winnipeg; Blair, Vancouver and Gilhane.

Catchers—Fasiani, formerly with the Tractors; Moore, ex-Louisville star.

Outfielders—Leber, formerly with Cleveland; Weidell, Omaha; Anderson, Crosby; semi-pros, Earl, Elmer, Little and the Southern league.

Outfielders—Russ, ex-Boston national league club; Weidell, Minneapolis and Elmer, Winnipeg.

The players are stopping at the Hotel Myers.

Players Out With Shovel.

The Chisholm boys joined the locals Monday morning and afternoon in clearing the snow off the field at the fair grounds. Equipped with long poles and shovels and rakes, they tackled the snow with vigor. Special efforts were taken to drain the ground around home plate, the pitcher's box and the bases. The grounds will be in shape for the first game Friday.

SCHOOL HEADS FORM STATE ASSOCIATION

At a meeting of the chief educators of the state in Wisconsin at Saturday a new association was formed, to be called the Wisconsin City School Superintendents' association. L. G. Douda, Wisconsin Rapids, was elected president; C. H. Anderson, Stoughton, vice-president; E. W. Waite, Manitowish, secretary-treasurer. Directors elected were W. F. Denby, Eau Claire; H. W. Kirehner, Merrill; C. J. Peterson, Milwaukee and E. M. Long-decker, Racine.

Madison was selected for the convention next year.

Because of the school exposition here Monday and Tuesday, Sup't. J. O. Holt was unable to attend.

JEFFERSON COUNTY G. O. P. ASS'N FORMED

Jefferson—The United Progressive Republicans of Jefferson county is the name of a club organized at a meeting at the courthouse Friday by a group of the county. The object of the club is to uphold progressive republican principles and to elect to office men of this persuasion. Temporary officers elected are: A. J. Glover, Port Adkinson, president; and Lynn H. Smith, Jefferson, secretary. "Owing to the storm attendance was small."

JOHNSON UNKINKS ARM, WINS 3 TO 1

With snow blanketing the most of the league fields in the west, big league baseball Sunday was narrowed down to three games, two in the American circuit and one in the National league.

Walter Johnson, who had to retire in the opening game in Washington on Saturday, came back today and won for the Nationals by going out and mowing down the Philadelphia Athletics and winning for Washington 3 to 1. Although he was touched for 10 hits the Washington speed artist fanned six and was effective in the pitcher's box.

Carl Mays, repeated his pitching feat of the opening day when he won for the Brooklyn Dodgers by winning the Red Sox 4 to 6 in New York. Mays was the hitting star of the opening game.

Both the Cubs and Sox hugged the fire and heartily along with the Braves and Tigers in the game at St. Louis with the Sox had to be called off because of cold weather. Dick Kerr, the midwest, is scheduled to take the mound today if the weather man behaves himself in St. Louis.

ROCKFORD TO HAVE NEW MOTORS PLANT

Rockford through the Petroleum Motors company will have a new manufacturing plant, employing from 3,000 to 3,500 workers. It is claimed. The company was incorporated in 1920 for 1,500,000 and has selected Rockford as its manufacturing and distributing point.

A ten acre tract located near the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad at Harrison avenue and Milwaukee street has been purchased. Construction work is to be started as soon as the weather clears. It was announced Saturday. The estimated cost of the factory buildings will be $500,000.

Former Fort Man Wins Honors in Utah Politics

Fort Atkinson—Seth W. Morrison, Jr., son of Seth Morrison, formerly of Fort Atkinson, and a nephew of Mrs. C. S. Pettit, this city, has won distinction in the political field in Utah, being elected to the Utah legislature. He is the youngest member ever elected to this body. He is a Yale graduate and served nine months overseas with the artillery. His father was a member of the first Utah legislature 25 years ago.

A General Letter to the Public:

It gives me great pleasure to announce the coming appearance at the Apollo Theatre of one of the few really great pictures—"Humoresque."

"Humoresque" is a picture which cannot be classified in the popular sense as a moving picture. It is far above and beyond any recent production.

"Humoresque" made a tremendous impression wherever it has been shown and has earned the entire approval and endorsement of women's clubs throughout the country. The appeal it carries reaches every heart. A pure theme rich in human interest. It is presented in a manner which calls for its instant recognition.

"Humoresque" will be presented on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week and I assure you that it is well worth your while to see it.

POPULAR PRICES:
This picture has been shown in all the cities at $1.00 a seat. But will be shown to Apollo patrons at these popular prices: Matinee—Children, 20c; Adults, 30c. Evening—Children, 25c, Adults, 35c.

JAS. ZANIAS, Manager.

PROTEST MEETING OF LOCAL BOWLERS IS CALLED MONDAY

To hear protests of several team captains in regard to games and prize money, a general meeting of the Janesville Bowling association has been called for 7 o'clock Monday night at the office of President Harry V. Ross. Every effort will be made, it is said, to clear these matters to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Severance of some of the teams in the final showing may be affected if any changes are made, especially where there happened to be ties. No final action can be taken Monday, it is stated, because Secretary H. M. Lampert is out of the city and unable to get here.

Fort D. A. R. Elects Delegate to Washington

Fort Atkinson—Miss Minnie Porter was elected as a delegate from the local D. A. R. to the national convention at Washington and left Thursday accompanied by her sister, Mrs. O. H. Cornish. The club went on record as favoring the movement to change the name of the national building stock exchange into a memorial hospital for disabled soldiers. Dues for members of the club were increased from $2 to $3.

Hostesses for the program which included several vocal solos and a reading of John Drinawater's "Lincoln" by Miss Mary Jones, were the Mesdames M. M. Hopkins, T. B. Royce, J. J. Tennet, C. E. Rogers, Carolyn Downing, A. J. Edwards, Charles Goodrich and Misses Carrie J. Smith, Grace Snell, Delany Passmore and Mrs. J. F. Schreiner.

THE GIRL WHO HAD NO CHANCE

By Marion Rubincam

CHAPTER XI

RUTH DECIDES

Ruth went up the path to the house in that complicated emotional state which only a very young girl can achieve. This is a statement that needs to be amplified. There are many girls of 18 who have experienced every emotion they are capable of having, to whom nothing more can come as a surprise. These are not necessarily the sophisticated type of the big city. They are found as frequently in the small town.

Ruth was not this sort. Instinctively she kept away from the "fashionable" crowd and she had no such crowd who lived on country estates in the neighborhood, who rode and danced together and flirted in the moonlight.

So almost automatically she fell in with a crowd of sweet and harmless children. As she grew up her studies took more and more of her time. Ruth had made her mind up that filiation for filiation's sake seemed to her a foolish waste of time. Myra might sit by the hour studying the most abstruse nonsense while one of the boys held her hand, but Ruth had better uses for her time.

Up to 18, then, she had not apparently fallen in love. She liked Tim better than any other boy she had met. He frequently read the same books she did, he was interested in his work, he was capable of carrying on a far more intelligent conversation than the other 22-year-old men of her acquaintance. She liked being with him, she looked up to him as being extremely brilliant, she was sure he would be a great man.

Beyond that she had not analyzed her feelings. But this was a new emotion, and she lay awake hours thinking of it. Tim had not come to the city because she had to stay home. Tim, then, must like very much to be with her, and thinking this, she fell happily asleep.

Next morning she had taken little time to think of anything but the woman who, with her husband, had taken the top floor of the house, received a telegram that her sister was dead. So she gathered up her few possessions and left for her old home in the South that day, her husband (who had left his job a week before) going with her. They had already paid the rent to the first of the month. Miss O'Neil was concerned about losing them.

"The money paid for your father's medicines and came in for lots of things," she said. "I was going to take the next month's rent and give it to Dr. Lane on account."

"I gave him $25 on account. And he says he's coming again this morning," Ruth answered, looking up from her book. "I can't see his mind, mother, we'll get in new tenants."

But she wasn't so sure. Her mother thanked her for paying the bill. "Though I can't take your money, you may still go to New York with it. If I can manage to find some to put to it," she answered. "If I can get some other people for rooms, now."

Ruth went to the top floor and began cleaning the empty rooms. In case the "new tenants" should materialize.

Tim stayed home from New York because she couldn't go—he liked to be with her enough to sacrifice any opportunity. How many other men would do a thing like that?

There was a romantic, though she hadn't thought of it before. Ruth stopped to look out the window at the wind-blown world beyond the garden. What a nice name Tim was, too. What a nice boy. She put her hand to her heart, which was beating so hard she could feel it. Suppose she was in love!

"Ruth, come down, when you're through. Dr. Lane's here," her mother called.

"All right, I will," Ruth came back to earth and her task. But of course she wasn't in love. She was only 18—oh, yes, at 18 many girls had fallen in love and many had married. Myra had been in love half a dozen times. But she? That were too many things to be done first—her father must be better, her mother more comfortably fixed.

It would be nice and consoling to have Tim around, she decided, but—her father with a dust cloth. She would not have thought to stay home—Tim had.

Tim, then, was in love with her. And this sudden thought, bursting in upon her mind, made Ruth completely forget her work. She sat in the middle of the floor, dust rag in hand, and thought over this delicious idea for a long time. She was Dr. Lane's voice that brought her back. She went downstairs.

"Doctors always order a change of scene," her mother was saying, rather crossly.

"I'm not ordering it. I know how things are," the physician said, kneeling with a smiling face, feeling cold feet here and there, and feeling good for him. New scenes, new faces, new associations.

"Why don't you and father go to visit Aunt Sara?" Ruth said to her mother.

"Go—you know why." "We have $75 we can spare. That's enough for the railroad fare. Father would like to see his sister again, he's often said so. And it's South, it would be warm."

So Ruth decided. And the rest of the hundred-dollar bill was spent. Tuesday—Love Story

What Shall I Do?

Answered by VIRGINIA PAGE

Kissing Games
"Dear Miss Page—Are kissing games permissible and proper?"—D. M."

"They are neither permissible nor proper. In the first place, they are dangerous to health; in the second place, they are silly and embarrassing and very unbecoming. And there are many other ways in which young people (of any age) can amuse themselves and entertain their friends."

"Boys, what do you think of this—all of you who belong to our Column-club and who read 'What Shall I Do?' every day? I have had just ever and ever so many letters from girls—girls who say from 12 to 22—asking me what they can do to entertain you without kissing games. They all say the same thing—'We girls don't like kissing games, but the boys want to play them all the time. What shall we do to make them like us and have a good time'—"

"The Editor."

A Too Persistent Suitor
"Dear Miss Page—There is a young man who comes to my house. I do not care for him. When we meet he always tries to force his company upon me, and it is very embarrassing, especially when you are with another boy. What shall I do?"—Dolly Dumplings."

"Tell him plainly, the first time you can speak to him alone, Dolly, that his attentions are very unwelcome, that you can't care for him or go with him, and that he only makes it embarrassing and unpleasant for you. Acting the way he does. If he is a gentleman he will never bother you again. If he isn't, then I suggest that you ask your brother or your father to settle matters with the young man."

All inquiries addressed to Miss Page in care of the "What Shall I Do?" department will be answered in this column in the future. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, stamped and self-addressed envelopes must be enclosed with the questions.—The Editor.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON.
Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl 18 years of age and have been going with a fellow 22 years of age. He thinks a lot of me and I do of him.

Lately he went and asked me to wait for him and wanted to know if I would go to him in a certain length of time.

Please advise me what to do as I love him and could not give him up. I am a virgin.

It seems to me that you are too young to make promises in regard to marriage. Tell the young man that you value his friendship but cannot make promises for the future.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We are two girls of 18. We are in trouble. Having been friends from childhood, and facing in love with boys at the same time, we became engaged. Our parents are unwilling for us to go with the boys, although every one says we are not too young.

We finished grammar school last year and being so very much in love we are in doubt about going to school or getting married. Please advise us what we should do. BLUE EYES AND BABY JOE.

You are far too young to marry. Go to school by all means, so that when you do marry you will be intelligent wives.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Do you think it is all right for a girl 14, rather large for her age, to go with a boy 21, and also to be in love with him?

A girl of 14 is too young to go with a young man. Love at that age is built on dreams instead of reality without playing those games.

Now what shall they do? You tell me, and then I'll tell the girls when they write to me, what you do like to do. Come on now, be good sports, and help us out, Boys! Must you have kissing games? And if so, why? And if not, what would you like in their place at your parties? What do you think about this? I'm going to count upon hearing from a lot of you, because I need a lot of advice and help for all these girls. All right—I'm listening.

The rest of your request, D. M. M. I will have to answer personally and so you must send me your name and address.

of naphtha soap; be sure your basin or pail of water is hot. Take small brush and clean a small space at a time; have another cloth and rub dry. This takes time and is laborious, but your carpet will look like new.

For spots: Make a solution of a piece of naphtha soap and a pint of water boiled for about ten minutes; apply to spot. This is very good for light spots.

Carpet Cleaner: Five cents' worth of chloroform, five cents' worth of ether, five cents' worth of ammonia, one-half bar naphtha soap.

Melt the soap and put in two gallons of hot water; add one teaspoon when cleaning sofa, one teaspoon powdered alum, one teaspoon table salt, two tablespoons chloroform, two tablespoons ether, two tablespoons ammonia. Rub the way of nap and leave.

Malodorous Tables Are Often Disfigured with white spots, caused by placing hot dishes upon the table without a mat. Rub in a few drops of sweet oil, then afterwards polish with alcohol and soft cloth.

Vanish-Remove stubborn varnish with a liquid varnish remover and a sharp, sturdy scraper.

SHARON
[By Gazette Correspondent.]
Sharone—The members of the M. E. church held a reception Thursday evening after the regular prayer meeting in honor of the class of new members taken in at Easter. The church met Thursday evening with 24 men and 14 women.

The school baseball team came home Wednesday and played the Sharon school team. The score was 24 to 4 in favor of Sharon—Miss Emma Jones entertained the members of the Sharon junior class

Thursday evening with an auto ride to Beloit, where a 6 o'clock dinner was served at the home of her sister, Mrs. Leo Wisch. The guests were then taken to the Rex theater, where the movie "Dixie" was given. The Mission Study class of the Lutheran church met Thursday evening with 24 men and 14 women.

The Letters of Tessie and Joe

DEAR JOE!

I dropped in at Mrs. Brennan's house this afternoon with the baby, because the little angel has been crawling so ambitiously of late that I thought I would let Mrs. B. see him and thus overtake her for the way she's been bragging about her baby's four teeth as opposed to our baby's none.

Well Joe you can dimly imagine my unwelcome surprise when the opening words out of Mrs. Brennan's mouth were to the effect that her baby now has six teeth, and she held him up and he opened his mouth in a most disgustingly concerted way and sure enough he had six, the original four and two that were strangers to me.

"Six at his age," I says, "my goodness, Mrs. B." I says, "I hope the child isn't deformed or anything of that nature."

"That was enough to take her sails in out of the wind, wasn't it Joe? But it didn't, so I put our little angel down on the floor so she could see him crawl, but the little imp just laid there as if he was frozen to the spot and glad of it. Children are a great trial, there's no doubt about that Joe. So I had to console myself by explaining to Mrs. B. how wonderful he crawls when he feels the time and the place are just ideal for it, but she hemmed and hawed sneeringly at the whole idea of crawling and said in her opinion it is much more advanced to have teeth than it is to crawl."

"Oh I don't know, Mrs. B." I says, "suppose your baby and my baby were caught in a fire and had to escape." I says "I guess your baby's six teeth wouldn't get him very far, would they?" I says.

Can you imagine that Joe? Anybody low minded enough to call attention to an accident like that isn't worth talking to, so I took the baby right home and he crawled immediately. I suppose it just goes to prove that after all a baby's place is in the home.

Janesville Business is Going Forward

Regardless of the Views of the Pessimists

The mass of the people have more money and are making larger incomes probably than at any previous time in history.

The growing pains incident to a readjustment in many industries are by some grossly magnified far beyond sane probabilities.

Now is the time when Manufacturers and Retailers should insure their future prosperity by rational but confidence-inspiring newspaper advertising.

If everyone would but seek to find market for rational products at fair prices, business would more speedily reach a new normal. No one ever got rich or increased the volume of his business or profits by sitting down and crying calamity.

Advertising in the Janesville Daily Gazette provides the very best and most effective way for reaching the people of Southern Wisconsin who today have several million dollars on deposit in our banks and who own several million more dollars worth of Liberty Bonds.

Why waste time with intermediary impediments? Advertise your wares and let business go ahead.

The Gazette circulation is growing every day. Make your business grow with it.
